This two day course is designed to introduce the systemic coaching and constellations methodology as applied in coaching individuals, groups and teams. You may be a very experienced coach or recently started on your journey.

WHAT WILL BE INCLUDED?

The group will explore the organising principles of relationship systems and the application of systemic constellations in executive and leadership coaching. Highlights of the experiential training include:

- A thorough introduction to the stance, principles and practices
- The practical application of constellations in one-to-one coaching
- An introduction to working with teams using this methodology
- An understanding of your own systemic resources and loyalties

FACILITATOR - JOHN WHITTINGTON

John is the founder of Coaching Constellations. His book, ‘Systemic Coaching and Constellations’ was published in expanded 2nd Edition in 2016 and is available through multiple outlets. Back in 2008 John started an informal learning circle in order to share the stance, principles and practices that underpin systemic coaching. Over time this grew into an accredited training and, in 2009, ‘Coaching Constellations’ was born. John now leads the facilitation team and the ‘by invitation’ international trainings. In 2011 John was invited to become a visiting tutor at the Henley Business School teaching systemic coaching and constellations to students on Henley’s MSc in Coaching and Behavioural change programme in the UK and Johannesburg, South Africa. In 2018 John began facilitating a series of systemic leadership development workshops for Henley Business School Finland. John also writes on subjects which his clients and students ask about – on his website ‘Life Love Leadership’. The site offers access to a growing number of articles about system dynamics in these three contexts as well as regular subject-specific workshops.
